The fall 2005 WCU, Ohio's largest workers' comp conference, boasts a bumper crop of new, in-depth seminars focusing on cost-containment strategies and workplace safety initiatives. The full-day sessions are great for first-time WCU attendees or as a detailed follow-up to the sessions BWC sponsored in the spring. And admission is free!

A variety of seminars will help you gather the vital information you need to run a safe, well-organized workers' compensation program. Employers can learn effective ways to protect their employees and manage claims; the medical community can discover new methods for returning injured workers to work, how to use the BWC website, ohiobwc.com, to save time and money, and much more.

WCU also provides a great opportunity for attendees to network with BWC and Industrial Commission of Ohio (IC) experts, and visit the expo area to discover the latest products and services -- all in one convenient location.

Classes include:

Employer Fundamentals
Keeping Small Businesses Safe

Wellness in the Workplace
Case Law and Legislative Update

and much much more!

Register today!!

General session begins at 8:30 a.m
